Association Manager Message

Greetings KHA members. I feel honored to be chosen to guide and serve a community with such a rich and distinct history in the Tallahassee area. I look forward to bringing my 20 years of management and leadership experience to help maintain and improve this beautiful community. These first couple of months have been busy and eventful.

Your Board of Directors and various committees have been diligent in looking out for the best interest of KHA residents.

Below is a summary of actions taken by the Board of Directors this quarter, including some status updates:

- ☘ Proceeded with obtaining bids for a survey to determine the boundaries of Unit 28 perimeter fence
- ☘ Pursued the petition process for traffic mitigation concerns within the major streets of Killlearn Estates by creating a Traffic Mitigation Committee
- ☘ Opened the Swim Club for the 2021 season on May 1 with hours from 9 AM – 9 PM
 - ☘ There are 70 members signed up
- ☘ Renewed the 2021-2022 insurance policy with a new carrier, resulting in substantial cost savings for the same coverage
- ☘ Coordinated with local vendors and personnel to plan our annual Fourth of July event
- ☘ Requested the City Manager, County Commissioner and TPD representative attend meetings on a quarterly rolling basis
 - ☘ TPD representative will be attending the July 13 Board meeting

You will find meeting notices and minutes posted on Town Square. If you haven't signed up yet, please do so by visiting townsq.io. You will need your account number to enroll.

Once signed up, you will also have member-only access to governing documents, your personal account finances, open forum discussions with neighbors, and you can even report maintenance items or community concerns to management. Our office is now open during regular business hours, feel free to drop by to speak with us directly.

Staffing notes:

- ☘ Our receptionist, Angelique Yarborough, has taken a leave of absence to serve our country in the Army National Guard. She plans to return to KHA in late September after her military training.
- ☘ Our Administrative Assistant, Luis Aguilera, moved away to be closer to family. We are currently conducting interviews for that position.

Join us at the annual Fourth of July Event hosted by KHA. Despite not having the fireworks display this year due to lake water level, we have planned a fantastic family fun event. See you there! ☘

Judy Sedwick

President's Message

Summer is here and your Killlearn Homes Association Board of Directors has been hard at work on a number of projects to further enhance the beauty of our neighborhood and provide new opportunities for members to connect with their neighbors.

The Events Committee, chaired by Susan Dickerson, has been busy planning the annual Fourth of July celebration. While water levels in Lake Killarney are too low to support fireworks this year, the event will still have a variety of activities for all ages. This family-friendly gathering is a great opportunity for residents to reconnect with neighbors they haven't seen over the past year.

Efforts are also underway to improve the appearance of Killlearn's entrances. The Maintenance Committee, led by David Hoodenpyle, has been cleaning and painting signs, making lighting and irrigation repairs and improving landscaping at the main entrance. The committee is also working to develop and implement a five-year plan that will address maintenance needs and improvements to Killlearn's numerous parks, playgrounds and common areas.

One of Killlearn's unique features is our lakes. The Lakes Restoration Committee, chaired by Danielle Irwin, hosted two successful lake cleanup events on April 24 and June 26. Through discussions with the City of Tallahassee, Florida Department of Environmental Protection and Northwest Florida Water Management District, the committee continues to work on issues that are critical to the restoration of Killlearn's chain of lakes.

As a board, we remain committed to transparent, open communications with our residents. We occasionally send out informational emails to our members, so make sure you stay in the loop by providing your current email address to the KHA Office at kha@killlearn.org.

I hope you have a wonderful summer! 🍀

Architectural Control Committee – Frequently Asked Questions

The Architectural Control Committee (ACC) is a group of people from different backgrounds that come together to review homeowner's applications for new projects. The purpose of this committee is to protect the property values of homeowners by ensuring that the projects that are being proposed are compliant with the covenants and restrictions of the community, and that the potential alterations will be beneficial for the entire community. Please see the list below for some of our Frequently Asked Questions. 🍀

Thank you,
Caleb Martinez

FAQ's

What projects do I need approval on?

All homeowners should submit an application to the ACC for any project that alters the exterior appearance of the property. This includes but is not limited to, tree removals, painting, fence installation, roof replacements, etc.

How long will this process take? Is there a fee involved?

The entire ACC process typically takes about 2 weeks. I always encourage homeowners to apply early. ACC decisions are valid for a period of 8 months, so it is always better to apply sooner rather than later. As always, ACC applications are completely free to residents.

Is there ever a situation where I do not need to apply?

Yes. Any general repair and/or maintenance project that will use the exact same materials that currently exist on the property does not need to be approved. This includes siding repair, shingle repair, driveway repair, etc. If you have a question as to whether your project falls under these guidelines, please call the KHA Office for assistance.

My vendor said I do not need to apply through the HOA, is this true?

No. It is always best to check directly with the KHA Office to ensure that your project is going through the correct review process. Even if your vendor ensures you that no approval is necessary, it is always best to check personally as the homeowner will be held liable for any unapproved exterior modifications.

I have approval from KHA, am I okay to begin construction?

Almost! You will want to make sure that your vendor is licensed and insured to avoid any hassle in the future. Additionally, if you are a part of a sub-association, you will want to make sure to check in with your sub-association leadership to verify if a separate approval is needed from the sub-association.

I've seen an ongoing construction that may be unapproved, what should I do?

If you have any questions about ongoing construction, please feel free to give the KHA Office a call to let us know. The office staff will investigate the issue the same day and take action as needed.

Our Lakes, Our Issues

There is much to talk about when it comes to our interconnected Chain of Lakes (Kinsail, Killarney, and Kanturk) and other waterbodies in our community. As is obvious, our water levels are down because of a lack of precipitation combined with our leaky lake bottoms. When water levels are down, it is a good time of year for lake edge clean-ups and mowing. Many of our waterbodies, not just the three main lakes, will have their edges mowed over the course of the next few weeks.

Also, our second Lake Clean-Up event of the year was on June 26. Our lake clean-up events collect debris such as plastic and glass bottles, plastic bags, discarded fishing line, broken lures, and other lost or discarded items. Not all of the debris is from our lakefront owners; some is washed in through the City's stormwater ditches.

The low water level in Lake Killarney is the sole reason why the fireworks display has been cancelled this year. The fireworks are traditionally launched from a barge for safety, yet that approach requires more water in the lake. This issue has come up a few times in recent years, inspiring your KHA Board to consider alternative options to launching the fireworks. One approach, to construct an island affectionately termed Fire Island, has been explored but encountered environmental permitting challenges.

Fire Island and additional approaches will be discussed at our upcoming July 13 KHA Board meeting. Regardless, we are forging ahead with our Fourth of July celebration at Shannon Lakes Park, minus the fireworks. Come out with your family and friends to spend some time with your neighborhood community.

Fluctuating water levels present challenges to managing water quality in our lakes. As the water levels drop, contaminants such as phosphorus and nitrogen become concentrated. KHA is working with the Florida Department of Environmental Protection and the City of Tallahassee to improve the water quality entering our lakes. Every resident of KHA has a role to play, too. Remember, all things flow downhill so be conscious of individual actions on our own properties and how they affect water quality. Consider stopping all fertilizer application to reduce runoff of phosphorous and nitrogen (the main ingredients in fertilizer) into our lakes. Limit or avoid the use of fertilizer used on lawns and landscaping by planting native vegetation appropriate for the level of sunlight your property receives. Should the use of fertilizers be necessary, do not apply more than indicated by the instructions on the bag and look at the rain forecast. Don't apply fertilizer when rain is in the forecast to further limit the amount that could runoff your land and into our waterbodies. Managing water quality is a team effort! 🍀

Hurricane Season is Here: How to Read and Understand Your Homeowner's Insurance Policy

Summer is upon us, and with it brings hurricane season. Therefore, it is time to understand your homeowner's insurance policy if you don't already. That's what this article is intended to do. Most of it applies to all insurance policies.

Insurance Policies Cover Distinct Risks

The main difference between insurance policies is the kind of risks that they cover. A "risk" is the chance that an event may or may not occur. From an insurance standpoint, a risk is the chance that an event may or may not occur that results in a financial loss. For example, a homeowner's policy protects against specified risks related to residential property and often to its contents. It may also cover outbuildings, such as sheds. In contrast, a life insurance policy protects against the risk of death. While it is inevitable that all of us will die, a life insurance policy might be considered a hedge against premature death—such as when we still have a family to raise and need money to finance doing so. If income stops because of death, proceeds of a life insurance policy fill the gap in whole or in part.

Parts of a Homeowners Insurance Policy

Regardless of the kind of insurance involved, the policy has essentially the same constituent parts. For our purposes, we'll focus on homeowner's policies.

- ☘ The Declarations. This is usually the first page of the policy that provided substantive information about the coverage of the policy. There may be a preceding cover page that identifies the insurer, the agent or broker, and their phone numbers and addresses. The Declarations identifies who or what is the subject of the insurance. Make sure that the address of the property that you wish to be insured is accurate.

- ☘ The Declarations states the length of time that the policy is in force (a start date to an end date which is called the "term" of coverage).
- ☘ Importantly, the Declarations broadly summarizes the coverage provided. The summary relates to the property insured and the amount of coverage provided.
- ☘ The amount of coverage refers of "policy limits" which are critical to understand. Insurance policies are sold, purchased, and priced not only in terms of the type of risk but also in terms of the dollar amount of coverage. The amount of coverage is normally further broken down between damage or destruction to the structure and damage or destruction to contents. The contents coverage is ordinarily some percentage of the coverage to the structure, but additional contents coverage can be purchased for an additional premium. There may be sub-limits for certain categories of covered property.
- ☘ When you bought the policy you would have been given the option of buying "actual cash value" (ACV) coverage or "replacement cost" coverage. If you bought ACV coverage and a covered loss occurs, the maximum that you can be paid is the depreciated value of the damaged or destroyed property (what it was worth at the time that the loss occurred regardless of what you paid for it) up to the maximum policy limits. "Replacement cost" coverage pays the cost of reconstructing the building (or the damaged part of it) irrespective of depreciation, but only up to the policy limits. If contents are damaged or destroyed, you would be entitled to new ones of "like kind and quality" as the old ones. Remember, the purpose of insurance is not to allow you profiteer—it is to put you in substantially the same position as you were before the loss. Replacement cost coverage costs more in premium because if a covered loss occurs, it pays more toward the loss.

- ☘ The Declarations also shows the "deductible." A deductible is the amount of a covered loss for which you are responsible before the homeowner's insurance company has an obligation to pay. In general, there is an inverse relationship between the insurance premium and the deductible. That is, the greater the deductible you select, the lower the premium will be. That's because you will personally absorb a larger portion of the covered loss before the insurance company is responsible for paying. There may be separate deductibles for different causes of loss. One kind is the general deductible just discussed. But another is a "wind deductible" which can be applicable to hurricane-related losses. You must be financially prepared to pay the deductibles to get repairs started because the insurance pays only the amount that exceeds the deductible. Therefore, although you cannot predict just what damage might occur and how much money you may have to pay out of pocket, you should meet with your insurance agent or broker for an explanation of how your policy works with respect to deductibles so you can generally prepare.

- ☘ Remember always that all of this is moot unless the policy is in force at the time of the occurrence (in this case, a hurricane). Therefore, pay the premiums.
- ☘ The Definitions. This section defines words and phrases used in the policy. Usually, words are given their plain meaning, but not always. Therefore, when reading other parts of the policy, refer to the definitions because the insurer may have defined the word differently than you would have interpreted it. Also, if you are unsure of the meaning of a term in your policy, look first at the definitions section to see if it is a defined term. If it isn't, it might be susceptible to dual meanings and create an "ambiguity." If, under one interpretation of the word there is coverage, but under another, there isn't, assuming that both interpretations are reasonable, the interpretation most favorable to you will usually prevail if you have to fight with the insurer.
- ☘ The Coverage Parts. This section states the specific coverages that are provided. It is similar to the summary in the Declarations but explains the coverage in much greater depth. For example, some homeowner's policies cover only the structure of the building. Yours probably provides much broader protection such as including liability coverage. That will be explained in the coverage part of the policy.
- ☘ The Exclusions. This is the section of the policy that states what is expressly not covered. Often, exclusions are based on how a loss occurred, such as by arson. In the context of a hurricane, if a flood occurs, the flood damage is usually an express exclusion. There are others, too.

- ☘ The Exceptions. An exception limits the application of an exclusion. In other words, if something falls under an exception to an exclusion, it is covered again. Exceptions are usually a function of how a loss occurred and are sometimes located within the Exclusions section because the two concepts are related. They can often be recognized by having language such as "ABC is excluded unless it results from XYZ."
- ☘ The Conditions. These specify your obligations to the insurance company and its to you. Clearly, you have an obligation to pay premiums to keep the policy in force. But you also have an obligation to cooperate with the insurer when it is investigating or adjusting a claim. There are others.

☘ Duties After Loss. This section states what you must do or must not do after a loss. In the case of damage from a hurricane, applicable duties could include making temporary repairs so as to prevent damage from getting worse. There are others.

☘ Endorsements. Endorsements are additional, optional coverages that you can obtain for an additional premium. For example, you might buy one to increase the policy limits for jewelry or for artwork.

The point of all of this is to show that your homeowner's policy is not simple. With the onset of hurricane season, do not wait until the last minute to figure out how the policy works, what it covers, and what it doesn't. Get generally familiar with your policy now. Secure the policy in a safe place so you have access to it when needed. If you need help, contact your insurance agent or broker for an explanation. ☘

BIRTHDAY PARTY!

No presents required, just come and join your neighbors and friends as we celebrate our nations 245th birthday on Sunday, July 4th. The festivities will begin at 5pm and continue until dark. We will have face painting, bouncy houses, music and food trucks galore. We will also have a visit from Redemptive Love with llamas and goats. Unfortunately, we are unable to have our usual fire works celebration as Lake Killarney is too low for the barge to launch.

We'll be meeting at Shannon Lakes Park (4475 Shannon Lakes West) from 5 PM – 8 PM. Parking will be available within the Four Oaks Community Parking Lot.

We look forward to a great party!
